Fresh Fish

Fishmongers generally don't open on a Sunday or Monday and for a very good reason – there's no access to freshly caught fish from our coastal markets. Christmas is no exception, and with Christmas Day falling on a Monday it makes this year even more challenging than ever

Due to the uncertainty of availability of freshly landed wild caught fish, we strongly recommend that you speak to us as soon as possible about how best to guarantee your fish requirements to avoid disappointment at this special time of year

With the exception of our Sashimi Tuna and Swordfish all our fish is perfectly suitable for freezing and we would suggest that you consider buying your fish a week or two before and popping it into the freezer. The quality will still be outstanding, and you won't have to worry about lack of availability and fluctuating prices the closer we get to Christmas

We will be able to give you a rough estimate based on 2016 prices*
