Fresh Fish

With Christmas Day falling on a Tuesday, this year will be very challenging for fishmongers and fish lovers alike. Forward planning will be critical to ensure you manage to get all your 'must haves' over the festive season

The very last coastal market of the year is on Thursday 20th December, meaning we will receive very limited supplies after this date

With the exception of our Sashimi Tuna all our fish is perfectly suitable for freezing and we highly recommend that you consider buying your fish at least a week or two before and popping it into the freezer

We can prep, vacuum pack and freeze everything for you - the quality will still be outstanding, and it means that you won't have to worry about lack of availability and fluctuating prices the closer we get to Christmas week

Let us know as soon as possible what your requirements are and we will be able to advise you on your best options
